130 NEWSPAPER EDITORS WILL VISIT STRATHMORE THURSDAY 6 P.M.

130 Editors to Visit Strathmore

Between 130 and 140 Weekly Newspaper Editors and Their Families Will Arrive in Town Tomorrow. Big Reception Planned.

On Thursday, June 16th, a party of between 120 and 140 members of the Canadian Press Association, of which 32 are ladies, from Eastern Canada, will visit Strathmore. Arrangements have been made with the C.P.R. for a special train to arrive here with the visitors at 6:15 p.m. The party will stay for about a couple of hours. A banner bearing the words "Welcome to our Town," will be hung across 2nd street from the King Edward Hotel to the opposite side. As soon as the party arrives, a number of school children will sing "Oh Canada." The mayor will then greet the visitors, and lead them to the freedom of the town. From there they will proceed by cars to the C.P.D. where Mr. Stockton will give them a demonstration of the irrigation system. They will then be shown the Demonstration Farm, cattle stock, figures and statistics will be given. Refreshments will be served.

This visit was arranged by John Mackenzie, editor of the Strathmore and Bow Valley Standard, in conjunction with Prof. Horton, of the C.P.R. Demonstration Farm.

Major Butler was advised of the visit by telegram, and responded to call a citizens meeting on Monday evening, at the Town Hall, where there was a good representation.

Arrangements were made as above, and the mayor wishes to take this opportunity to appeal to our citizens to be present at the depot at 6 p.m. with their wives to drive the visitors to the different sites as outlined above. About forty cars are needed. Now our citizens are requested to bring to the different sites as outlined above. About forty cars are needed. A Dead Horse Case

At a J. P. Court held at Strathmore on Friday, June 10th, before Messrs. Lambert and Vickery, Justices of the Peace, Solicitor Nelson and W. F. Kirsinger, born in the employ of W. R. Newbold, rancher, of Shepard, were heard $6.00 and costs in each case amounting to $16.65, making a total of $43.30. Separate charges were made against both under section 222 of the criminal code for creating a nuisance, by leaving a dead horse on the highway near the farm of H. Lawrence, of Carleton Place.

Mr. T. Fakhnam A.P.P. presented, and T. M. Woods, barrister, defended. It was proved that the two men, on May 23, passed Mr. Lawrence's place with a bunch of horses, one of them being dead and was killed and all about it was found in a public condition.

After hearing the evidence the magistrate imposed fines as above stated.

Capt. Beatty Gives Red Cross Address

Capt. Beatty, of the Alberta Red Cross Society, addressed a very poorly attended meeting in Strathmore on Tuesday, June 7th, at the Union Church.

Capt. Beatty explained the present situation of the Red Cross very clearly. At the conclusion of the meeting the following were elected as officers for the year 1921-22.

President, Rev. A. D. Currie; Sec. Treas. Miss Phyllis Lark; Ex. Com. Miss Mrs. L. Williams; Mrs. Fox and one member of the G.W.N.A. yet to be appointed.
The canvass for some of the school girls, is not yet completed.

U.F.A. Meeting

A meeting of the U.F.A. was held last Saturday in the King Edward Hotel.
The Labour Problem was again brought forward and was held over until next meeting. This seems likely to be a serious problem, but the cooperation of the locals, and the labour bureau may overcome it satisfactorily.

Next Sunday being U.F.A. Sunday, all members are earnestly requested to attend this service. Appropriate addresses will be given by the ministers.

The next meeting of the U.F.A. will be on June 25th when everyone is asked to be present.

Tennis

Tennis seems to be more popular in Strathmore this year than ever before and the courts are already in good condition. During the past week both the town and C.P.D. courts have been in use continuously.

On Wednesday afternoon a very successful tea was given by Mrs. E. W. Lambert and Mrs. A. W. Givins at the home of the latter. Between 40 and 50 enthusiasts were present. This is the next tea. The present schedule of the Tennis Club has been planned for this season.

June 29th has been chosen for the next tea. The present schedule of games will have been played by that time and a new series will commence on the same date. The manner in which the members have responded in playing the present schedule is indicative of the real tennis spirit.

The Tennis Club will not be having any Sunday games and consequently are expecting the cooperation of the business men of the town in relation to the Wednesday afternoon games.

Calgary Exhibition

In the programme which will be presented by the 1921 Calgary Exhibition, to be held June 20th to July 8th, the management considers it has the highest class and most entertaining features that have ever been secured for the Calgary Exhibition.

An attraction which will undoubtedly be the most popular for many years is the massed Festival Choir of 200 voices, composed of the five Calgary choirs which competed in the recent Alberta Musical Festival. The choir work at this Festival was so good that one of the adjudicators, Mr. W. H. Hall, professor of choral singing at Columbia University New York, said "The choral work at this Festival has reached the highest mark I have ever heard of on this continent."

A forty-five minute concert will be given each evening by the massive choir, accompanied by a thirty-piece orchestra, which will include classical numbers, solos and other special numbers.

Another feature which will delight all Exhibition patrons will be the fireworks. A remarkable display of aerial fireworks will be given in addition to a reproduction of the Naval Battle at Dover each evening following the regular platform program, which in itself would constitute a wonderful evening's entertainment.

The livestock and industrial exhibits this year promise to be exceptionally good, and the promoters for the best all round Exhibition that has ever been held in Calgary are parties largely right.

Election Writs To be Issued Soon

Rumor Persists That Stewart Government Will Appeal to Electors in July or August—Cabinet Ministers Are Busy Organizing Home Constituencies.

It is particularly reported that the writs for the Alberta elections will be issued on or about June 20 and that the elections will take place in July or August on a date that will permit the farmers to poll their votes without interfering unduly with their regular work.

It is known that the ministers have been busy engaged in preparation for a struggle and as a matter of fact most of them, including Premier Stewart, are in their constituencies at present. They are not alone in their activities for the farmers have been organizing for months and the Conservatives and Independents have been little less energetic and it is expected that the contest will be bitterly fought even if it is sprung at short notice.

The Irrigation Convention

The Western Irrigation Association is this year holding its fifteenth annual convention at Vernon, B.C., July 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th.

Since 1908 the Western Canada Irrigation Association has held conventions east and west of the mountains in alternate years, with the exception of 1919 and 1920, when for two years in succession the convention was held in Alberta. The convention in 1919, was held at Medicine Hat at a time when the movement for the development of cooperative schemes in Southern Alberta had almost reached a deadlock. A guarantee of government assistance was required by the irrigation districts in the course of formation and neither the provincial nor the dominion government could see its way to give a guarantee.

Meanwhile three dry seasons had made matters desperate for hundreds of farmers on whose land it was possible to bring water if only irrigation systems were constructed. The fine crops grown on the irrigated lands outside and elsewhere had convinced the people of Lethbridge in 1918, and the opinion at this convention was that the worst fear of Lethbridge in 1918, even Alberta and in Western Canada generally would be better favoured by holding the fourteenth convention at Lethbridge instead of at some point in British Columbia, and a motion was made by one of the British Columbia delegates to the effect and seconded by a delegate from Saskatchewan and passed by the convention unanimously.

This year the convention is returning to Vernon after a lapse of fourteen years. Since it was last in this city, conventions have been held at Lethbridge (three times), Calgary, Banff, Maple Creek and Medicine Hat east of the mountains and at Kamloops (twice), Kelowna, Penticton and Okanagan Falls west of the mountains. Three times in the history of the Association has the convention been held in the Kananaskis Valley, at Vernon in 1908, 1909 and 1912 and at Penticton in 1914. All of these conventions were successful from every point of view, but from present indications this year's convention at Vernon is expected to surpass all previous ones.

all of them to a banquet given by the City.

Out of the Snows

"Out of the Snows" the picture which appears at the Strathmore Opera House, June 17th, is an extraordinary feature; a story of a Mounted Police officer and an Indian girl, whose love was lavished on a man who could not return it of a fight and refuge with the murderers. A story that chills with its suspense and warms you with its hearty interest. This picture was made in the wilds of northern Quebec, and the snow scenes are the most wonderful ever shown on the screen. The picture is being shown to capacity houses at the Regent in Calgary.

Linen Industry in Canada

Dominion Linens, Ltd., Mangle and Ironing Department, showing Callenders, Hydraulic Mangles, Folding and Measuring Machines. Total floor space about half acre.

The linen industry was initiated in Canada in 1902 by Mr. William Berry, now Vice-President of the Dominion Linens Limited, Guelph, Ontario. Previous to this time, however, there had been several attempts at linen manufacture, and mills established in different parts of Canada, but all had resulted in failure. From the earliest period of human history till almost the close of the eighteenth century, linen manufacture was one of the most extensive and widely distributed of the domestic industries of European countries. It was most largely developed in Russia, Austria, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Northern France, certain parts of England, the North of Ireland and throughout Scotland. In the latter part of the eighteenth century the invention of cotton spinning machinery gave the linen weaving industry a fair field. Domestic spinning and weaving began to shrink and with it hand loom weaving.

In 1845, at Burlington, England, a machine was invented, which after many improvements and modifications has become the perfect system of machinery with which at the present day linen spinning mills are furnished. The discovery of a process for the mechanical spinning of linen yarn for weaving into cloth, by power loom was much superior than in the corresponding case of cotton.

There are two branches in the modern linen industry, spinning and weaving, to which may be added mangle and various finishing processes. The flax fibre is received from the Scotch mills and is of low grade according to the quality of the material, is labelled and placed in store ready for the flax spinning plant, which would complete the chain of linen manufacture and make the business a purely Canadian one has been installed at Guelph and is now in full running order. This plant has been equipped with the latest modern dry and wet spinning systems. To secure the highest quality of linen yarn, workers were brought from Belgium, via the C.P.R., who were experienced in water twisting flax, similar to the finest Flemish and Belgian flax which are used for producing the highest grade linens.

The Need For Auto Transportation

Farmers Plant Treated Seed

Electrification Claimed to Increase Yield and Check Diseases
Seed treated by a new process of seed electrification, a method which it is claimed will increase the yield, check the spread of fungoid diseases and improve the quality, will be shown this year by many of the leading farmers in Southern Alberta. A plant for the treating of seed has been established at Carmangay, Alta., and already its capacity is taxed to such an extent that an enlargement will be made immediately.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH NEEDS GREAT CARE

When the Blood Becomes Watery a Breakdown Follows.

Every woman's health is dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, dizziness, nervousness, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weakness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, and nervousness? Of course all these symptoms should begin to exist. There are the worst of the condition of the blood, and the more necessary it should be to begin to correct it without delay. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken to correct it.

Every body helps to make a woman's health. Every part of the body and brings new blood to work, despondent people. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are particularly useful to girls and young women.

Weakness, nervousness, pale, languid and nervous. There can be neither health nor beauty without it. All this blood is made of iron and color to the cheeks and lips. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood as it is shown by the experience of...

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using six boxes I felt better. I had a better appetite, sleep better and felt stronger. I continued to take the pills for a couple of months longer.

Last Of The "Sennet"

Royal Navy Men Have to Give Up

London saw women of the Royal Navy in their straw hats at Lord Fisher's funeral last July. Now, the announcement that the Admiralty has decided to abolish the "sennet," as it is officially called, at home, the uniform then clothed is to be worn, with the white cap over in summer, on the occasions on which the sennet has hitherto been worn, and sun-helmets will be supplied to men serving in ships and establishments on foreign stations.

With passing of the sennet or straw hat there is removed almost the last feature of the picturesque dress of the sailor at the time when uniform was first established. This was in 1857, but the dress then ordered had been the modified or irregular uniform of seamen for many years before that, and was directly ancestral to the Napoleonic war.

In these earlier regulations for men's uniform the hat was ordered to be black or white, according to climate. The black hat or tarquin was abolished 30 years ago, and when, 10 years later, the round blue jacket was also abolished, there disappeared from the seaman's kit the two articles by which he was most familiarly known—the "tar" and the "blue jacket."

An Unclaimed Mummy.

In the unclaimed rooms of the railway there is a vast accumulation of trunks, valises and many types of miscellaneous articles, such as umbrellas, handbags, hats, rubbers, baby carriages, and even in a while a crutch or a wooden leg, so that, apparently, the owners do not think worth while to inquire for. Not long ago a mummy, possibly a descendant of the Pharaohs, crept in and was found by public auction with other effects.

A form of pumice stone has been discovered in Japan, which can be used in concrete for road building, making a concrete as strong, but 60 per cent. lighter, than the ordinary kind.

DIET.

When a raw recruit has been in the service long enough to learn that the shells and bullets that miss him do hurt, he becomes a veteran. When he learns by experience that the noise that strikes him does hurt, he becomes a casualty.

The best way to have our teeth become veterans in the service of good health is to take care of them.

It is foolish to expose the teeth and mouth to needless infection by carelessness. Even with the best care that we know how to give, there may be decay of the teeth and infection of the gums, but by careful brushing as a habit, and early treatment of the few teeth that are attacked by bacteria, the mouth may be kept healthy and serviceable as long as the rest of the body.

In addition to proper brushing of the teeth, the diet is of great importance. We commonly think of diet as a treatment for digestive disturbances only.

The mouth is the front door of the stomach and decayed teeth, and every inflamed spot on the gums, is really a digestive disturbance. No part of the mouth, stomach, or intestines can be diseased without affecting to some extent, the rest of the tract.

It is possible to arrange the diet of a child that the development and maintenance of the teeth is reasonably assured and, at the same time, the digestion and general health are benefited.

The one food in the world that is exactly suited to an infant is mother's milk. The children of mothers who are able to nurse their infants have a big lead in the race of life.

When the first baby teeth come in, there is a demand for some good, clean liquid food. The little teeth must chew, and the gums need exercise.

From seven to nine months of age, babies should have a little taste with butter twice each day. After nine months, rice and thin solid puddings, a little boiled fish and well cooked chicken come next. Do not forget that butter fat is absolutely necessary for the proper diet early, has been found very effective in the cause of good teeth.

Hiccup Epidemic Prevailing

It gets harder and harder to keep the hiccup at bay, the slightest attack at the beginning. Nothing looks so magical right as a little hiccup, and a well cooked chicken come next. Do not forget that butter fat is absolutely necessary for the proper diet early, has been found very effective in the cause of good teeth.

Industrial Generosity

Increase Superannuation Allowance to Balance Value of Currency.

The action in which the industrial concerns interpret their duty to their employees is exemplified by the action taken by two of the leading alloy companies in connection with superannuation allowances for old servants. Trying to the change in the value of currency since the war, the original allowance had become inadequate and the companies voluntarily decided to increase the allowance to superannuate servants and also to improve the scale of benefits for those servants entitled to superannuation.

This action is all the more significant because the only fund at present available, for such concessions is the dividend. The industrial amounts, therefore, come out of the shareholders' pockets.

Experienced.

A Japanese "boy" came to the home of a minister in Los Angeles recently and applied for a position. Now it happened that the household was already well supplied with servants, so the minister's wife said, "I am sorry, but we have no more room for you to keep another boy home."

"Madame," said the Oriental politely, "I am sure that you must have. You may not know what a little bit of work it takes to keep me employed."

Two Winter Fairs

Regina Holding One in November and One in March

A winter fair comprising two sections, one to be held in November, the other in March, will be conducted in Regina in the coming season, according to a decision reached at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Exhibition Association.

In November, when the first section of the fair is to be held, there will be the sheep and swine show, and the fall-flocking competition. The second section of the fair will be held in early spring, probably in March, and will include a stallion, fat cattle and poultry shows.

In addition to carrying out this scheme, an effort will be made by the fair board of Regina to encourage the sale of spring fairs, to be arranged with Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and other towns.

Making Use of Kaiser's Stables

Buildings Attached to Royal Palace Converted Into Public Library.

The stables of the former Kaiser, which were erected in 1908, and are attached to the royal palace have been converted into a public library. The main or street front is 305 feet long and the front facing the Spre is 578 feet.

The style of the structure is the renaissance. Sculptures of horse tapers and ancient warriors are ranged along the top of the structure. The stables is not in the wall at each end. The rooms were kept in two stories of the river, with the carriages above.

In the interior the stables were open to visitors daily from 11:30 to 1:30. Admission was 25 pennies. A few of the stables were open for a time. The floor contained the stables on which the Great Elector pursued the Swedes across the Kersche Hall, and numerous historical carvings.

Magnetic Storm World-Wide

Great Britain and Europe Greatly Affected by Disturbance.

Telegraph and telephone lines in the British Isles and throughout Northern Europe have been seriously interrupted by the great magnetic storms which virtually paralyzed wire transmission in Canada and the United States. Cables between England and the United States were affected and transmission was badly delayed.

The disturbance is believed to have caused a fire which destroyed a two-story exchange at Karlstad, a Swedish town about 160 miles west of Stockholm. The building was totally destroyed.

The Sea of Life

I stood by the sea in the morning. The tide was in at its ebb. The shores were strewn with wreckage.

In one vast tangled web. The rocks stood out naked and ragged. Jagged, barren, and white.

So ruthlessly cruel and unwhining. In the pitiless morning light. I thought of our life in it's morning.

And the and mistake we made. I stood by the sea at noon-tide. The tide was in at it's flow.

The breakers were crowning a love song. In cadence soft and low. No sign was there of wreckage.

On the glittering golden sand. Only the calm silvery ocean. And still more beautiful land.

I thought of our life in it's noon-day. When the truth at last we grasped. And leaped to rise in the present.

Through the errors of the past. But have covered the wreckage. Hope has lent a helping hand.

Through faith ever-breasted the water. It's glory must blind my sight. I could see through it's starry belt.

But. The "Gates of Heaven," all gold. As I thought sent forth her herald. Beautiful stars, through ages old.

Then I thought of our life at it's end. At the end of a hard won fight. When hearts are filled with joy and peace.

For the coming of the night. The night that comes on so softly. But through which a dawn shall break.

To point the way out more surely. On the last journey all must take. F. C. HUTCHINS.

When the Great War ended—yes, even before the joyful news of the signing of the Armistice—the statesmen and thoughtful men of all countries turned their attention to a consideration of the gigantic problem confronting civilization in the wake of the awful damage inflicted on the world. It was not the material damage so much that was the cause of deep concern, for, given time and money, destroyed cities, towns, industrial establishments, railways, mines and home buildings could be restored.

The real problem was the people themselves. With millions of the world's most able-bodied and virile young men killed, or maimed or weakened for life; with millions of women helpless nervous as a result of the strain and hardships and sorrows through which they had passed; with millions of babies and young children under-nourished during the most vital years when wholesome food and plenty of it should have been forthcoming; and with the mental vice of everybody far from normal, in many ways distorted, what, all thoughtless men and women asked themselves, of the future of the race, mentally, morally, physically? And if the race is just in these respects, what of the State itself, because, after all, a nation is just what its people are. It is not wealth, or great industries, or large cities, or famous buildings that make a nation, but the people themselves.

The war had made vividly clear some things which a quarter of a century of peace might not have revealed with so much impressiveness. The war had given us a revelation, for it may fittingly be called a revelation, of the relative worth and ability of the ordinary man and woman. During the war the ordinary soldier, seaman and airman stuck to their duties and did them with a courage and endurance which have never been surpassed. The spirit of the race had been decayed. But the war had revealed also the shockingly poor physical condition of a great proportion of the men in all countries. In the alleged progress of civilization, in the organization of industries, in the development of big business for creating and controlling wealth, regard for the intrinsic worth of human life of men and women in good health living and working under wholesome conditions—had been to a large extent neglected.

Think of the significance of these figures: During the last year of war, the number of men called up to the army in Great Britain was 2,435,184. Out of every nine men, three were fit and healthy, two were in inferior health, three might be described as physical weaklings, and one as a chronic invalid with a precarious hold on life. Since that was the physical condition of men at their most vigorous age, what would be the condition of health among the women and children? In other countries the examination of the men called to the colors revealed conditions somewhat similar. In Canada, all but a small percentage of men and women of the 362,000 drafted under the Military Service Act, 181,229, or about one-half, were found to be unfit for full service in the field. Even without war the races seemed to be heading for physical deterioration and disaster.

As a result of these shocking and altogether alarming disclosures, when the Covenant of the League of Nations was drafted, Article XXV, was inserted which binds every nation joining the League to encourage and promote a national Red Cross Society having as its purpose "the improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world." The Red Cross was selected for this important work because of its international character, its splendid organization, and its wonderful record during the war.

It is the profound conviction of those who are impressed with the importance and possibilities of the ideals expressed in the Red Cross programme as above outlined that their cultivation is possible through the endorsement and support which universal membership in the Red Cross alone can give. Widespread and popular membership in the Red Cross is, therefore, the necessary condition of success in its peace-time programme. To attain that universal membership, a world-wide enrolment campaign is being held this year. The dates in the three Prairie Provinces of Canada are June 5 to 11. Membership in the Red Cross involves an annual fee of one dollar for adults, and of twenty-five cents for boys and girls under 18 years of age, but this is the only—and incidental—financial aspect of the membership enrolment campaign.

It is the intelligent interest, the active sympathy, the whole-hearted support of all people in this nation-wide, yet world-wide, Crusade for Good Health that the Red Cross desires, and to assure this it asks every man, woman and child to join the Red Cross during the week of June 5 to 11.

Following all previous wars, the Red Cross had its work for the time being completed, fell into a state of disorganization. When the war drums sounded in 1914, the Red Cross had to undertake all the work of home organization before it could begin its work for the soldiers in the field. Now, however, while carrying on its great peace-time programme for the welfare and betterment of all mankind, it will be maintained fully organized, efficient and ready to act should Canada ever again be called to arms.

The Red Cross demonstrated that it was worthy of support during the war. Having now highly resolved to dedicate itself to the task of carrying out the obligations imposed upon it in the Covenant of the League of Nations, it can be trusted to faithfully endeavor to render Red Cross service to Canada and its people. Therefore—Join the Red Cross.

Reinforced Attracted By Settlers.

According to visitors from the Alberta region, reindeer, which has not been seen in that section of the province for several years, are reported travelling by groups of ten and fifteen and have apparently been attracted by the strange sight of new settlements. Bears and wolves, which years ago were quite numerous, are growing very scarce. Fishing is reported to be exceptionally good in the same region this year.

Will Use Escaping Gas.

It is reported that the Imperial Oil Company will erect a $350,000 plant at their Regina works for utilizing escaping gas in the manufacture of gasoline.

Will Complete The "Bismarck"

Belfast Shipbuilders Will Take Over Ship Left Incomplete By Germans.

Messrs. Harland and Wolff, the Belfast shipbuilders, are so sent a party of experts to Hamburg to supervise the completion of the Bismarck, the biggest ship the Germans left in the world when they left it to be the White Star Majesty.

She was specially mentioned in the Peace Treaty, and it was agreed that she should be completed and delivered to Great Britain.

Her progress has been very slow, and there have been more than two or three hundred men working on her. A fire in October caused further delay.

Germany has excused herself by saying that she has been quite unable to get anything like definite instructions from the Allies.

For long it was doubtful whether any company would buy her, but at last the White Star came to the rescue and obtained her as a counterblast to the purchase of the Emperor, 4,000 tons smaller, by the Cunard line.

A Friend To the Aged!

When men and women get past middle life, their energy and activity, their muscular strength, their vitality and their general vigour are less and less.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less untidy.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and there are evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy must take the heart tonic, Dr. Williams' Heart and Nerve Pills.

Just take the heart beat strong and regular, brace up and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy to the entire system.

Mrs. James P. Bell, Atlanta, writes: "Some months ago I was not feeling well, my heart bothered me quite a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got two boxes of your pills. I took them a few days and, when I had taken the two boxes I felt so much better. I quit them. I had taken at intervals, and am fine about 72 years of age."

What Strikes Really Mean

Merely An Attempt to Get Behind Constitutional Government.

There can no longer be any pretence about the character of the present labor troubles. It is an attempt to get behind constitutional government. Wages are not the issue; conditions of labor are not in dispute; the primary object is direct action for a purpose which concerns the whole community. Let the miners' leaders succeed in their challenges, and they will show that they and not the government and parliament are the ultimate arbiters of our destiny. It is possible, then, to trace the most malignant influences in the action of the extremists, to whom on this occasion the responsible leaders have made surrender.

Fire Protection in Finland

Government Compels Every Building To Have a Ladder.

Finland takes more precautions than any other nation to protect itself against fire. Indeed, it is a nation of fire escapes, for by government enactment it is compulsory for any building or dwelling to be provided with means by which the occupants can escape in the event of an outbreak of fire. Ladder-making for domestic use is one of the country's most profitable industries. From the most primitive to the latest every household in the country must have its ladder responding against the wall on the outside or lying along the ground within easy reach.

The government regulation, which makes it obligatory upon the owners of every building to procure such a ladder, is an old one, and is an echo of the days when the houses and towns of the country were entirely of wood. Modern building construction of stone and brick has made no change in the law.

Alberta Erecting Wireless Station

Will Be Tallest and Most Powerful in Province.

With six aeroplanes hangars already erected on the High River government aerodrome field in Southern Alberta and with the office building completed, the tenders for the erection of the most powerful wireless station in the province and the works shops have just been received, and it is expected that work will start on these projects within the next two or three weeks.

The wireless station will be able to send messages to Vancouver and over the Pacific coast, and will be taller and more powerful than any yet erected in this province. The pole will have been erected within about ten days.

The six hangars now completed on the field are modern Bessmer hangars, which were brought over from Regina, where they were used by the Royal Air Force during the war. Each of them will accommodate about three aeroplanes.

Disrupting Element.

A well-to-do Scottish woman one day said to her gardener:

"Man Tamms, I wonder you don't get married. You're a nice fellow and all you want to be like a wife. You know the first gardener that ever lived had a wife."

"Quite right, missus, quite right," said Thomas, "but he didn't keep his job long after he got the wife."—The Watchman-Examiner, New York.

Good Canadian Citizens

Scandinavians Are Hardworking and Intensely Patriotic.

A most gratifying feature of Scandinavian settlement in Canada is that it is almost wholly agricultural, and in the west they will be found in the richest and most progressive districts. While retaining their national individuality, their customs, language and religion, they are British in sentiment and intensely patriotic, and their contribution to Canada's army evidenced. With an inherent realization of their own worth, they stand, without embarrassment upon their own feet, and are absorbed as Canadians without losing their individual qualities. Clean-blooded, thrifty, ambitious and hardworking, they are of the best of Europe's contribution to a pioneer nation.

Important Discovery Aids Crime Detection

Frenchman Says Finger Prints Are Not Only Means

"An important aid to crime-detection is reported from Paris," says the Scientific American.

This new plan supplements the Bertillon system of measurements and finger prints. It has been found that a man can be traced not by finger prints alone, but by marks on any part of the body. Any of the pores of the skin may be employed. This is the discovery of Dr. Locard, head of the French Police School at Lyons. Criminals often use gloves to foil detection, but the pores on the elbow may give a print equally as valuable as identification.

Canada's Livestock Is Healthy

The report of the Veterinary Director for General recently issued covers two years, the first part for the year ending March 31, 1915, and the second part for the twelve months terminating March 31, 1916.

The health of Canada's live stock during both years is shown to have been highly satisfactory. In fact it is easy to believe that Canada is the healthiest country in the world for all breeds of live stock. No country can claim to be absolutely free from all ailments in its cattle, horses, sheep and swine any more than it can that every human being is health-perfect. But Canada, it is safe to assert, comes nearer to the ideal state than any other land. None of the epidemic diseases that cause most anxiety to sanitary officials, such as foot and mouth diseases, cattle plague, and contagious pleuro-pneumonia, are found with any frequency. Diseases that do exist to a very limited extent, such as glanders, hog cholera, and the mange, the report shows are being kept well under control and are diminishing in number year by year.

Glanders is proven to have existed only in Northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and in those provinces extremely few cases are reported. All the outbreaks the Veterinary Director cannot be able to state have been efficiently dealt with and the disease eradicated. Where hog cholera and cattle mange have appeared, vigorous action has immediately been taken with the result that contagion has been everywhere checked and districts entirely cleared. Regarding hog cholera, experience shows that nearly all cases originate on premises where garbage is fed to the animals. Cooking, if properly done, is stated to be an effective safeguard. Real statistics are given in the report of the activities undertaken all over the country which indicate the remarkable results achieved. A marked increase is shown in the number of live stock inspected for exportation in the year 1915-16 compared with the previous year, the figures being 310,000 as compared with 100,000.

Ardenode Notes

A U.G.G. meeting will be held in the school house on Friday evening, June 17 at 8 o'clock sharp. Mr. Molyneux and Mr. Schofield will have charge of the meeting, which will consist of having pictures on marketing of live stock and a lecture. Mrs. Schofield, who is a great U.F.W.A. worker, will also accompany Mr. Schofield to the meeting. This meeting outside of the benefit which will be derived from it will be a great treat, don't fail to come; remember the time, June 17, at 8 o'clock sharp. A dance will follow this meeting so ladies are kindly asked to bring cakes.

A joint meeting of the U.F.A. and the U.F.W.A. was held in the school house, the main issue of the evening being grasshoppers. Our neighbors stood although not so badly interested as some, it had enough to compel immediate action in destroying them. Sandford Shumaker was a Calgary visitor last Friday.

Mrs. H. Sherman made a business trip to Calgary last Thursday.

On account of the U.F.A. picnic to be held on Wednesday, our U.F.W.A. meeting will be held on Tuesday in school on Wednesday.

The rain last Wednesday, although slight, was a great help to the crop and gardens.

Culling the Flock

(Experimental Farm Note)

The hatching season should now be on, on the well-regulated poultry plant and attention directed to culling the flock to make room for the growing youngsters.

In the first place there should be vigorously culled from the flock all birds that show physical defects such as crooked beaks, hocks or legs, excessively long toe nails, sunken eyes and long "crows" head, knock-knees or other signs of poor standing and low vitality.

At this season, if they have not already been discarded the hens over two years old, unless possessing the characters of extra high production and retained as brooders on this account should be marked as soon as they stop laying, show signs of broodiness or moult.

When trap nests are used, this culling is readily noticeable, but if not the hens that have stopped laying can be easily distinguished by their shrinking comb and fading colour of feet and wattles, also by the contraction of the pelvic bones.

These bones slightly protruding on each side of the vent, remain spread to the width of about three fingers placed perpendicularly between them, as long as the hen is laying. In the poor producers they will be found closed to the width of only one finger, and when the latter condition is evident early in the season, when she should be still producing, it is fairly good indication that the bird has given up too soon and is not the type that makes the high record.

Vigour, health, and high producing qualities are shown by the distinctly visible characters, and all birds that do not carry these qualities in a marked degree should disappear from the flock.

The high-producing characters of primary significance are full, red comb, bright bulging eyes, long legs with lots of width between them, extremely and pelvic bones showing depth of body and capacity for food and room for the producing organs, fine pelvic bones spread well apart and an elastic, velvet texture to the skin of the abdomen.

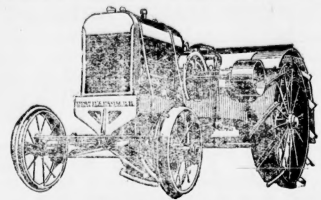

Hens that moult late in the season and in the yellow-skinned varieties those individuals that lack out with in the sections that show pigment, namely the skin, beak, shank and earlobe, also indicate the possibility of high production and should be kept in preference to those that are early these qualities.

There are more intricate details characters that help in the selection of good from poor layers, but the foregoing will be of some use in an elementary way, to the farmer in selecting his breeders to carry over to the next season. It is especially noted that they will eliminate most of the undesirable specimens that are a source of expense without profit and rob the desirability of the flock of their creditable record.

W. T. SCOTT,

Poultry Director,
Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Edmonton, Alta.—In drilling to test the commercial possibilities of the salt beds in the Fort McMurray district in the Peace River country, recently, it was found that there was nearly half a foot of anhydrite and gypsum of commercial quality ranging at depths from 500 to 600 feet, and if a market can be found for it, there is a large reserve available for development.

Type of Hart-Parr 30 Motor
Same As Twenty Years Ago

The motor is the heart of the tractor. It is the source of power, and you buy a tractor for power only.

The motor that was used in Old Hart-Parr No. 1, built in 1901, was fundamentally the same type of motor that is used in the Hart-Parr 30 to-day. It is built in the Hart-Parr factory and had they found a type that was better for tractor power they would build it.

For a long time Hart-Parr Company have had out a questionnaire asking for arguments for the two-cylinder and four-cylinder type of motor in a tractor. To date it stands as follows:

ADVANTAGES OF HART-PARR 30 TWO-CYLINDER TWIN MOTOR

1. Less engine experience needed to operate.
2. Handles kerosene better.
3. More accessible.
4. Lower cost per horse power.
5. Half the ignition trouble.
6. Half the valve trouble.
7. Only two main bearings. Cannot get out of line and break crank shaft.
8. Few bearings, and these may be oiled by mechanical oiler.
9. Less gearing because of lower engine speed and less reduction to wheels.
10. Best type of bearing may be used because of less reduction to wheels.
11. Less power lost in transmission.
12. Less jacket walls on cylinder, hence more uniform cooling.
13. Easier to cool with radiator.
14. Sturdier, more rugged parts.
15. Slower speed, hence longer life.
16. Less wearing parts.
17. Heavy duty engines have always been one or two cylinders.
18. With cranks at 180 degrees, they may be very well balanced.
19. Similar to stationary engine.
20. Better belt power.

Make a list of 4-cylinder advantages in comparison

Many of the old facts that showed the superiority of the motor are still in evidence at the present day. Hart-Parr Co., Inc., Detroit, Mich. U.S.A. 1915.

Irricana Notes

The children of Irricana enjoyed an outing to Calgary on Thursday, June 9th. The noon hour was spent at St. George's Island, after which the children were taken to the circus. The outing was supervised by Mr. H. Miller, a local merchant, and the officers of the Sunday School.

The Irricana and Belcher boys' team played a game at Irricana on Wednesday, June 8th, although the teams were pretty evenly matched, the score was 10-3 in favour of Irricana.

We regret very much to hear that Mr. Fitch, the Irricana High School teacher is not going to be with us next term.

A number of people from Irricana attended the wedding of Miss E. Hinz, daughter of Mr. J. Hinz, to Mr. K. McNeil, on Thursday, June 9th, at the First Baptist Church, Calgary. The bride and bridegroom left immediately for Banff where they will spend their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. McNeil will reside in Calgary. Their many friends wish them a long and prosperous life.

The census takers have started their rounds here. They have sent in a report that it is surprising how much younger the wives are than their husbands.

There was a large attendance at the Boy Scout Dance here last week. Owing to the dance and game at Acme on Friday, the attendance at the picture show was not large. The series has proved quite an attraction.

The grasshoppers are becoming very numerous in our district. A meeting is to be held Saturday, June 11th, at the hall to form a centre to deal with the grasshopper plague. Mr. Weir of Olds will preside.

A good rain would be very welcome in this district, as the crops are beginning to show effects of the dry weather.

Miss J. Gail has been engaged by Mr. J. McCall as bookkeeper at the hardware.

Moving has been the chief occupation of three of our prominent business men during the past week. Mr. Harding's stand is now occupied by the barber, the doctor having moved into his new and commodious stand next to the garage. The butcher has moved to the shop previously occupied by the barber.

Miss Ewing and Mr. Stanley Ewing spent the week end at their home here.

Miss M. Kernich also spent week end here at home of her brother Mr. F. Kernich.

Mrs. T. O. Thompson, of Three Hills, spent a few days in the village.
